MESSAGE FROM THE FOUNDATION

Dear Friends,

The precious stories that these pages hold only scratch the surface of the compassionate, lifesaving care that occurs at Loma Linda University Children's Hospital each day, and it is our pleasure to share a few of them with you. This past year was transformative for Loma Linda University Children's Health in many ways. These include the expansion of pediatric services in new communities, clinic service expansion and diligent planning for our move into the new LLU Children's Hospital tower.

At Loma Linda University Children's Health, we are recommitting ourselves to caring for the health of communities in every region we serve, spanning from the Temecula to Coachella valleys. This includes continual improvement in how we integrate patient care in multidisciplinary settings. Consistent with these efforts, planning is underway with Loma Linda University Medical Center – Murrieta to bring pediatric specific emergency services and expanded pediatric specialty services to an underserved area.

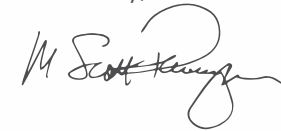

Similar growth is occurring at Loma Linda University Children's Health – Indio Jill and Barry Golden Pavilion as we continue to expand hours and increase numbers of specialties.

Perhaps the most transformative growth is taking place on the main Loma Linda campus. With over 300,000 square feet of dichroic glass covering the facade, our new Children's Hospital tower will house more than 70 private patient rooms. A crucial part of this campus transformation is our fifth floor, which will be dedicated to mothers and babies, to be named the San Manuel Maternity Pavilion. As a second phase of this growth strategy, we are also excited to announce building plans that will include a Loma Linda University Children's Hospital Outpatient Pavilion on the corner of Barton Road and Anderson Street that will feature care spanning from neurology to hematology and oncology.

This whole child approach to caring for children is at the core of our commitment to go above and beyond to keep the mothers and children of the Inland Empire healing, healthy and happy. Thank you for your continued support as we strive to provide above-and-beyond care for this vulnerable population of children that we are privileged to serve.

TOP QUALITY HONORS

Highlighting its nationally recognized achievements in patient safety and quality, Loma Linda University Children's Hospital was named a Top Children's Hospital in 2018 for the second year in a row by The Leapfrog Group.

Among 2,600 hospitals in the country, Loma Linda University Children's Hospital was one of only 13 children's hospitals in the U.S. and one of two hospitals in California to be recognized by The Leapfrog Group.

Performance across many areas of hospital care is considered in establishing the qualifications for the award, including infection rates, maternity care and the hospital's capacity to prevent medication errors.

To qualify for the Top Hospitals distinction, hospitals must submit a Leapfrog Hospital Survey and achieve the highest performance in its category. The selection of Top Hospitals 2018 is based on surveys from nearly 1,900 hospitals.

In addition to overall quality, Loma Linda University Children's Hospital was recognized for quality in treating patients who suffer cardiac arrests in the hospital.

Children's Hospital received the Get With The Guidelines – Resuscitation Silver Award for implementing specific quality improvement measures as outlined by the American Heart Association.

LOMA LINDA UNIVERSITY CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL WAS NAMED A TOP CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL IN 2018 FOR THE SECOND YEAR IN A ROW BY THE LEAPFROG GROUP.

More than 200,000 adults and children have an in-hospital cardiac arrest each year, according to the American Heart Association. The Get With The Guidelines – Resuscitation program was developed with the goal to save the lives of those who experience in-hospital cardiac arrests through consistently following the most up-to-date research-based guidelines for treatment. Guidelines include following protocols for patient safety, medical emergency team response, effective and timely resuscitation and post-resuscitation care.

Loma Linda University Children's Hospital received three awards for meeting specific measures in treating pediatric, neonate/infant and newly born patients. To receive this award, a hospital must comply with the quality measures for one year.

Get With The Guidelines – Resuscitation builds on the work of the American Heart Association's National Registry of Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation, originally launched in 1999 and has collected in-hospital cardiac arrest data from more than 500 hospitals. Data from the registry and the quality program give participating hospitals feedback on their resuscitation practice and patient outcomes. The data also helps to improve research-based guidelines for in-hospital resuscitation.

Scott Perryman, senior vice president and administrator for Loma Linda University Children's Hospital, said it was a privilege to have received these honors for quality.

"Providing a safe environment for healing is at the heart of Loma Linda University Children's Hospital," he said. "These national awards are made possible by a dedicated team of clinicians who foster the highest level of care for the over 125,000 children that we are privileged to serve each year."

THE ROAD TO HEART RECOVERY

ANNA'S 10-YEAR JOURNEY TO GETTING THE HEART TO LIVE.

October 5, 2018, turned out to be a huge day in the life of Anna Hennings. The 11-year-old was a month shy of her birthday and building a model cell unit in the playroom on the pediatric cardiothoracic intensive care unit at Loma Linda University Children's Hospital. Anna, a "science nut" according to her mom, had been in the hospital for over three months awaiting a lifesaving heart transplant.

That wait officially came to an end.

Matthew Bock, MD, pediatric heart failure and transplant cardiologist, interrupted her science play to give Anna the good news that the team had a heart for her.

"To tell a patient family we have a heart is a great feeling," Bock said, "but when the patient is old enough to understand, it's even better."

Anna was transplanted that night.

In 2006, Charity Plaxton-Hennings and her husband Robert were over the moon at the birth of their daughter, but that excitement was taken away when they received the news that she had hypoplastic left heart syndrome (HLHS), a congenital heart defect in which the left side of the heart is severely underdeveloped. Although rare, it was a diagnosis with which the couple was all too familiar.

Less than three years prior, the Hennings had a son who also had HLHS, but died just 17 days after being born. Anna, unlike her brother, was born at Loma Linda University Children's Hospital, and doctors were able to diagnose and prepare for what was to come.

In her first two years of life, Anna had three open-heart surgeries — the Norwood, Glenn and Fontan procedures — each to offer a temporary fix for her heart defect.

"These procedures buy us time," Bock said, adding that after these reconstructive surgeries and regular monitoring, some patients can live up to 20-30 years without a heart transplant. Anna got about 10 years.

"Life was normal," Charity said. "She danced, enjoyed reading and loved traveling."

But soon after her 10th birthday, Anna's demeanor was changing. "Something didn't seem right during a family vacation," Charity said. "She was not experiencing as much joy, and she was wearing out sooner."

One night, Charity found her daughter in her room crying, and she confessed, "I'm so tired of being tired all the time."

In the days following, everything went from normal to being placed on the heart transplant list. By July 2018, Anna was living in the hospital, too sick to leave.

Charity admits they weren't ready to go inpatient, but thankfully a member of the family was able to be with her on the unit 24 hours a day.

"TO TELL A PATIENT FAMILY WE HAVE A HEART IS A GREAT FEELING..."

In the three months leading up to her heart transplant, Anna learned to advocate for herself, her mom said. She would help with different tasks related to her care, learning how to flush her IV and giving nurses tips during blood draws.

Anees Razzouk, MD, pediatric cardiothoracic surgeon, who had performed Anna's previous surgeries, transplanted Anna with her new heart. She went home nine days later.

"SHE STILL LOVES SCIENCE AND WANTS TO BE A PEDIATRIC NURSE OR CARDIOLOGIST..."

Now, more than a year post-transplant, 13-year-old Anna is dancing again, enjoys hiking with her family and riding her bike. "My chest doesn't hurt anymore when I exercise," she said.

Her mom said she has more energy and is focused on her career goals. "She still loves science and wants to be a pediatric nurse or cardiologist," Anna said. "She finished reading her 40-chapter biology textbook all on her own. She's an incredible kid."

SETH AKINS IS ACTIVE AGAIN

10-YEAR-OLD RECEIVES NEEDED BONE MARROW TRANSPLANT HIS FAMILY HAD HOPED AND PRAYED FOR.

After an eight month battle with a rare blood disease, Seth Akins got the miracle he and his family had been praying for — a lifesaving bone marrow transplant at Loma Linda University Children’s Hospital.

At 10 years old, Seth was diagnosed in January 2017 with aplastic anemia — a rare condition in which the bone marrow does not produce enough new blood cells as a result of bone marrow damage. Because of his risk for infection, Seth, who loved playing outside, had to remain isolated indoors.

Under the care of a comprehensive pediatric specialty team, including hematology/ oncology and pediatric bone marrow transplant providers, Seth underwent multiple chemotherapy treatments, which were unsuccessful. A bone marrow transplant was the next and only other option.

More than 70% of patients in need of a marrow transplant do not have a matched family member donor. Seth was one of them and therefore had to rely on the national registry of bone marrow donors to find a match — a process that can take many months, which Seth did not have.

But in June 2017, just a few months shy of his 11th birthday, Seth was transplanted with stem cells from an anonymous donor.

The transplant was performed by a comprehensive team of specialists, led by Quan Zhao, transplant physician.

“The donor was Seth’s only fighting chance,” Zhao said. “Without the transplant, he likely would have only survived two or three years.”

After the transplant, Seth remained hospitalized in the pediatric intensive care unit for 205 days due to complications. He acquired a severe TA-TMA (transplantation associated thrombotic microangiopathy), a rare but severe disease that has high morbidity and mortality. Due to respiratory failure, he was intubated, and he was put on hemodialysis because of kidney failure.

His mom, Renee Floriano, said it’s because of the selflessness of an altruistic donor and the dedicated care her son received at Loma Linda University Children’s Hospital that he is alive today.

“I am so thankful to the donor and Loma Linda University Children’s Hospital for manifesting this miracle,” Floriano said.

“The prayer and love we received are more than we could have ever asked for.”

Just over a year after his transplant, in September 2018, Seth had the privilege of meeting his donor face-to-face. After meeting the young man who will forever be a part of him, Seth said he was “very happy and thankful that he did this for me. He saved my life.”

“THE PRAYER AND LOVE WE RECEIVED ARE MORE THAN WE COULD HAVE EVER ASKED FOR.”

Now in the seventh grade, Seth is thriving in the home hospital school program — a teacher periodically visits him at home for schooling until he is deemed safe from infections.

“He got straight A’s in sixth grade and he loves science,” Floriano said.

Seth is also able to be outside more and spend time with his two siblings.

“Seth loves to be active — riding his scooter, playing basketball, soccer and swimming,” she said, “and now he gets to do all those things again.”

Seth is looking forward to healthy years ahead. “I want to be a pediatrician,” he said, “so I can help kids who were sick like me.”

A PICU NURSE, HER SICK PATIENT AND A DIVINELY APPOINTED ADOPTION

"LEXIE FILLED MY HEART, AND MY EXPERIENCE AS A NURSE WAS THE PERFECT FIT FOR HER MEDICAL NEEDS. WITHIN SEVERAL HOURS OF BEING HER NURSE, I KNEW SHE BELONGED IN MY FAMILY."

Charla Kingsley showed up to work 14 years ago on a day that would change her life. The pediatric intensive care unit nurse was met with a scared, tiny, 18-month-old toddler weighing only 12 pounds. She had serious medical issues and no family with her. By the end of the day, Charla had arranged to take home that tiny toddler named Lexie. She was adopted into the Kingsley family a year later.

From day one, Lexie's journey hasn't been easy. She was born prematurely with gastroschisis: a condition where the intestines develop and float outside of a baby's body while in the womb.

Unfortunately, the majority of Lexie's intestines were already too damaged to save, leaving her with only four inches of small intestine that was surgically connected to the remaining half of her large intestine. A central line was inserted in her heart that continues to provide her body with a specialized IV nutrition, called total parenteral nutrition. However, this central line has been a source of numerous infections and hospitalizations. In her lifetime, she has been admitted to Children's Hospital 32 times.

Charla said what struck her most while caring for Lexie during those first few hours of being her nurse was no one came to visit the sick toddler. "She was all alone," Charla said. "She was very ill with a blood infection, connected to IVs and wouldn't make eye contact with anyone. It was so evident that she needed family, siblings and specialized care — all things that I could provide."

Charla said she has seen God's hand in both her and Lexie's lives from the beginning of their journey together. "This was God's doing," Charla said. "I didn't walk into work looking for a child. I had three kids already — I was even a grandma. But Lexie filled my heart, and my experience as a nurse was the perfect fit for her medical needs. Within several hours of being her nurse, I knew she belonged in my family."

Lexie continues to go to Children's Hospital for care. She said it's like her second home where she feels safe. "Loma Linda is what brought my mom and me together," Lexie said. "I was born at Children's Hospital, and we met at Children's Hospital. When I'm sick, I'm admitted to Children's Hospital. Everything from GI clinic and primary care to dentistry, we trust this hospital and the doctors and nurses who take care of me."

Lexie is now 16 years old and thriving. She's outdoorsy, loves animals, enjoys gardening and just started her junior year of high school. She hopes to one day return to Children's Hospital to care for patients like her mother cared for her. "My goal is to become a neonatal intensive care unit nurse at Loma Linda University Children's Hospital," Lexie said.

IMPACTING THE INLAND EMPIRE FOR GENERATIONS TO COME

SAN MANUEL'S $25 MILLION GIFT PROPELS CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL MATERNITY CARE FORWARD.

Mothers, babies and children of the Inland Empire will benefit for generations to come from the abundant generosity of the San Manuel Band of Mission Indians. In February, the tribe generously gifted the landmark amount of $25 million to Children's Hospital at the 26th Annual LLU Children's Hospital Foundation Gala.

"THIS GIFT SHOWS THAT OUR ORGANIZATION AND THE SAN MANUEL BAND OF MISSION INDIANS CARE DEEPLY FOR CHILDREN EVEN BEFORE THEY'RE BORN ... "

This money will help fund the fifth floor of the new LLU Children's Hospital, fondly named the San Manuel Maternity Pavilion, moving the community forward in health and wellness through quality, specialized maternity care.

Kevin Balli, MD, chair of gynecology and obstetrics at Children's Hospital, said the pavilion will allow the hospital to continue as the leader in high-risk birth care in the region and continue dismantling the barriers preventing rapid access for all women to the highest levels of care.

"This partnership could not come at a more critical time, as the proportion of women with high-risk pregnancies continues to steadily grow in the Inland Empire and nationwide," Balli said. "The generosity of the San Manuel Band of Mission Indians will significantly increase our space and equipment — two critical factors as we attempt to drive wait times down and access up. Our goal as OBGYN physicians at Loma Linda University Children's Hospital is to provide the best possible care. This gift empowers that goal exponentially."

Courtney Martin, DO, medical director of maternity services at Children's Hospital, was overjoyed by the continued partnership between the hospital and the tribe, saying the gift represented a true investment in the women and children of the community.

"This gift shows that our organization and the San Manuel Band of Mission Indians care deeply for children even before they're born because they're providing the best possible care for mothers," Martin said. "As a whole, we recognize that investing in women's prenatal care, access to care and the space where care is provided trickles down to the quality of life for babies and children."

The relationship between the San Manuel Band of Mission Indians and Loma Linda University Health stretches for more than 100 years, starting with the kindness of an obstetrician, Lyra George, from what was then called the Loma Linda Sanitarium and Hospital. Lyra would travel on horseback to the San Manuel Indian reservation in the foothills of San Bernardino Valley to deliver the tribe's babies, and a friendship spanning generations blossomed — one of inspired service and mutual care for each other and the regional community.

That relationship has come full circle with the San Manuel Band of Mission Indians now giving back to help babies in the Inland Empire through the San Manuel Maternity Pavilion at Loma Linda University Children's Hospital.

CHILD LIFE SPOTLIGHT

Child Life Services at Loma Linda University Children's Hospital, with their team of child life specialists, go above and beyond every day to minimize the fear and stress experienced by children, adolescents and families during hospitalization. Two women in particular stand at the helm of this program at Children's Hospital with an undeniable commitment to patient care and their team: Dorothy Clark Brooks, MA, CCLS, bereavement and community education specialist, and Dina Evans, MS, CCLS, director of Child Life Services.

"THEY INSPIRE ME TO BE BETTER."

Dorothy Brooks has committed 36 years of her life to Child Life Services, watching it grow from a team of three to now more than 30. Although she has various responsibilities, Dorothy said one of her favorite roles is being a support person for her team. "Our patients are facing grief and very challenging times — that can become overwhelming for staff who are working as the support network for these kids," she said. "I love that I get to support my team every day as their sounding board, cheerleader and shoulder to lean on."

Dina Evans has worked in many roles of Child Life Services during her 27 years of continued dedication, working as a specialist for a decade, then moving into a management role and now working as the director of the program. She has enjoyed watching the profession grow to become standard in hospital care and seeing new graduates enter the program with so much knowledge and passion. "I love learning from our child life specialists," she said. "They know so much more than I do, and it's wonderful to manage a group that truly loves their jobs, takes pride in what they do and genuinely cares for our patients. They inspire me to be better."

CORKY'S KITCHEN AND BAKERY

Corky's Kitchen and Bakery is dedicated to the families and children of the Inland Empire. That vision has helped the Southern California restaurant chain to raise nearly $64,000 over the past five years to further the work of Loma Linda University Children's Hospital.

In 2014, the owners of Corky's wanted to give back to their local community. With family being one of the core values of the Corky's brand, the idea of working alongside LLU Children's Hospital seemed like a perfect fit.

In collaboration with Tiffany Hoekstra, Children's Hospital Foundation's senior development officer, and Rod Landon, of the Inland Empire radio station KCAL, Corky's came up with the idea of Corky's Cookies for Cancer. This fundraiser helps bring community awareness to the cause during the month of September, pediatric cancer awareness month.

For each cookie sold at any of the chain's locations during the month of September, a portion of the proceeds is donated to LLU Children's Hospital.

In addition, Corky's also offers kids the unique opportunity of helping with a promotion called Art for Cancer. During the month of September, children who visit Corky's restaurants are provided with special menus, allowing them to create heartfelt drawings and encouraging messages for the patients at LLU Children's Hospital. These drawings are delivered and displayed at the hospital, brightening patients' lives and providing them with courage.

Corky's hopes to continue their partnership with LLU Children's Hospital for many years to come. Every September, they strive to increase their annual donation to children. Corky's support has benefited hundreds of children treated at Loma Linda University Children's Health by providing donations that fund toys, games, movies and other things that make a child's hospital stay more enjoyable.

CORKY'S CONTINUES TO HELP LLU CHILDREN'S HEALTH IN ITS EFFORTS TO KEEP CHILDREN HEALING, HEALTHY AND HAPPY.

ENDOWMENTS

Endowments ensure that the healing care offered by Loma Linda University Children's Hospital will be available to future generations of children. In addition, named endowments provide a lasting tribute to an individual or to a family's legacy of philanthropy.

The A. Gary Anderson Family Endowment

Carrying out Mr. Anderson's legacy to meet community needs, the A. Gary Anderson Family Foundation has generously funded the A. Gary Anderson Playroom at Loma Linda University Children's Hospital. This playroom affords young patients the opportunity to interact with others and to enjoy diversionary play under the caring supervision of child life specialists.

The Jerry L. and Shirley N. Pettis Family Research and Operating Endowment

The Pettis Family Endowment provides funds for pediatric hematology and oncology research and clinical care at Loma Linda University Children's Hospital. In recognition of their generous contribution, the pediatric hematology/oncology and stem cell transplant wing of Children's Hospital was named in their honor in 2005.

The James W. Totman Pediatric Cancer Research Endowment

A longtime resident of the Inland Empire, James W. Totman established a trust that provides an endowment for ongoing pediatric cancer research at Loma Linda University Children's Hospital.

The Ken Ramirez Family Endowment

The Ramirez family is dedicated to the eradication of childhood diabetes. This endowment was founded by Ken Ramirez and is supported by members of the extended Ramirez family. Annual proceeds support treatment and education provided to Inland Empire children by the Pediatric Diabetes Center at Loma Linda University Children's Hospital.

The Coral and Richard Tegley Memorial Endowed Education Fund

In remembrance of his wife, a longstanding member of the pediatric critical care nursing team at Loma Linda University Children's Hospital, Richard Tegley established this fund to provide greater knowledge to other critical care nurses through educational conference opportunities.

Tribute donors can establish a Shining Star Fund in the name of their loved one. As well as paying special tribute, a shining star fund provides an everlasting way to honor or remember someone.

Anyone may contribute to a shining star fund at any time or to acknowledge a loss, birthday, anniversary or other special occasion. Gifts to shining star funds are used to further the mission of the Children's Hospital and help ensure the availability of critical healthcare services for the children.

All shining star funds are acknowledged in the Loma Linda University Children's Hospital Foundation Annual Report. When contributions to a shining star fund reach $2,500 or more, a celestial star will be named for the honored individual. Shining star funds that have received contributions of $5,000 or more will be included on the shining star donor wall located in the Children's Hospital.

BIG HEARTS FOR LITTLE HEARTS GUILDS

HELP BRIGHTEN

THE LIVES OF HOSPITALIZED CHILDREN.

Loma Linda University Children's Hospital Foundation is privileged to have an association of volunteer guilds whose events and activities raise funds and bring awareness to help meet healthcare needs of community children.

In addition, guild members help brighten the lives of hospitalized children through fun diversionary activities. Together, the Desert Guild, Loma Linda Guild, Riverside Guild and Temecula Valley Guild include over 60 board members and more than 421 members from across the Inland Empire and Coachella Valley.

During their 2018-2019 season, Big Hearts for Little Hearts hosted 18 fundraising events, 15 patient diversionary events and collectively raised more than $425,000 to ensure critical medical care for the sick children at Loma Linda University Children's Hospital.
